Rules and Considerations for Virtual Participants

Despite the virtual nature of this event, GISF would like to stress how important it is that virtual meetings also serve as a safe space for members to exchange ideas, experiences and comments. In order to create this safe space, we ask you to adhere to the following rules and considerations for the upcoming GISF Forum:

1. The Forum, in-person and virtual, follows the Chatham House Rule.
2. Zoom meeting links must not be shared with anyone else.
3. Internet connection and circumstances allowing, we encourage you to turn your camera on, and to proactively engage with colleagues. Please remain on mute when you are not speaking.
4. Please be aware of your surroundings and of other individuals that might be listening in on the conversations. If possible, wear headphones.
5. Do not record any of the forum sessions on your own devices, nor take any screenshots of any presentations or participants. GISF will be sharing the presentations when appropriate after the event.
6. GISF will not be using any images of participants for public usage, unless we have your consent.
7. If you have any questions, practical or other, the GISF team will be available throughout the entire event to help out. Please do not hesitate to get in touch. For any troubleshooting complications, please contact Emily either privately using the chat or via gisf-emily@gisf.ngo

We encourage you to contact GISF directly at gisf-info@gisf.ngo if you feel uncomfortable about any individual's comments or behaviour, either towards you or someone else. This will enable us to take the necessary steps.
